CASE BACKGROUND

This case is a combination of several small problems. It was designed to help the participants of FMWC learn or refresh such aspects of financial modeling as loans, investments, depreciation, valuation and others.

FINANCIAL MODEL

No financial model is provided for this case. You are advised to create your calculations from scratch. However, please don't forget to attach the file with your calculations when you have answered all the questions.

HINT

Depending on your skills and previous experience, some problems from this case could be very easy while others might turn out to be quite time-consuming. If you are stuck with one question, just make a guess and move on to another question. The questions are not interconnected.

Remember, that this stage brings double bonus points. If you finish earlier, then each full minute saved will give you 20 bonus points. However, the bonus is awarded only if you score at least 1800 points on regular questions.

You are not prohibited from using VBA to solve the case; however, we believe that this could be a more time-consuming solution.
